SLO COUNTY SUPERVISORS BRUCE GIBSON AND ADAM HILL ENDORSE JOHN LAIRD FOR STATE SENATE

SAN LUIS OBISPO, CA – John Laird, candidate for State Senate, today announced endorsements by San Luis Obispo County Supervisors Bruce Gibson and Adam Hill.

“We need strong leaders to represent San Luis Obispo County in Sacramento,” said Hill, who serves as Vice Chair of the Board of Supervisors. “John Laird is exactly the right kind of leader for our community. John has the experience and perspective we need on critical issues, such as economic vitality in our cities and our ag sector, as well as essential social services and protection of open space. I’m proud to support John for State Senate.”

“John Laird’s understanding of our San Luis Obispo County local values and perspective gives me great confidence in his ability to advocate for our interests in Sacramento,” said Supervisor Gibson. “Our local communities are going to benefit greatly from John’s track record of leadership, experience on key issues and well-regarded ability to work well with people of different points of view.”

Laird previously announced endorsements by the mayor, vice mayor and all councilmembers of the City of San Luis Obispo, as well as a legislators and statewide officials including:

State Insurance Commissioner Ricardo Lara
State Treasurer Fiona Ma
State Controller Betty Yee
Rep. Salud Carbajal
Rep. Anna Eshoo
Rep. Zoe Lofgren

Rep. Jimmy Panetta
Former Rep. Lois Capps
